

CALL FOR PAPERS

STATE BANK OF PAKISTAN RESEARCH BULLETIN

The Research Department is releasing SBP-Research Bulletin (RB) regularly since the year 2005, which is intended to be high quality, intellectual, peer-reviewed journal. The broader objective is to publish the latest research in the various fields of economics particularly related to central bank policies, such as monetary and exchange rate policies. It is envisioned to propagate the current issues prevail in domestic economy as well as internationally. The Bulletin is indexed in Econ Lit of American Economic Association; and hard copies are regularly distributed to national/international academic institutions, central banks, and main libraries.

You are invited to submit your completed research work in the form of an academic research paper, short note, opinion, or a book review. Submission of Working Papers is also encouraged. Policy notes can also be considered for the short section. Please submit your research work as an attachment to sbprb@sbp.org.pk. The draft of research work should be in Microsoft Word and graphs in Microsoft Excel format. Guidelines to write and format your manuscripts are available on:

The papers found suitable for publication will be subject to double blind review by a panel of internationally recognized economists. The feedback will be given to authors as soon as possible to complete the review process. The Research Bulletin is released online at SBP website and an email alert is sent to the authors of the accepted papers. A complimentary copy of the printed version of the Bulletin will also be sent to the authors.

Last date for submission of research work for SBP Research Bulletin 2017 issue is March 15, 2017.

Any paper submitted after this date will be considered for the next year issue.
